Prussia, Austria and Italy.

Few people, except Germans themselves, understand the real nature of the present European complication. It is easier, says the London Times, to sum up the accounts in the German quarrel than to strike the balance. The causes of anger, the sources of difficulty, the antagonism of interests, and even the prospects of actual strife, may all be estimated with more or less accuracy, but the incalculable elements of accident and passion intervene to obscure the result. Austria and Prussia certainly ought not to fight; if they are prudent they will yet stay the sword. But they have threatened each other so fiercely, and made such overt demonstrations of hostility and force, that it would need but one step further to lead to a clash of arms, and that step the telegraph informs us has been taken. Prussia essays to place herself before the eyes of Europe as the aggressor party. In the pretty little "bill of play," issued by Von Bismarck as a prelude to the opening of the great drama, she deliberately charges Austria with pertinaciously repudiating all her overtures for a pacific solution of their differences; and having determined upon war, and thus leaving her (Prussia) no alternative but to choose her time to begin. That circular, plausible as it may appear to the uninitiated, will not stand the test of investigation. At our latest English mail dates, (May 5th) we find Prussia calling upon Saxony to disarm, while herself, purchasing horses and munitions of war, moving her troops southward and refusing to disarm unless Austria desisted from her armaments in Venetia. This was manifestly out of the question so long as Italy was massing her troops on the Venetian border, and watching for the signal from her Prussian ally to cross the Mincio in force. "The real and permanent sources of quarrel," says the authority before quoted, "are two—Schleswig-Holstein and Venetia. Prussia desires to appropriate the Danish Duchies, while Austria refuses to permit her to appropriate all the plunder that they gained in common. Austria has a standing quarrel with Italy, for Italy makes no secret of her desire to acquire Venetia. A German war would provide her with a favorable opportunity, and she is now preparing without reserve to embrace the chance if it should be offered. This attitude Austria not unnaturally resents, and so the original dispute between the two German Powers is complicated by the demonstrations of a third. The preparations of Prussia for consummating her designs on the Danish Duchies were so unscrupulously and even insolently advanced, that Austria had no alternative but between submission and immediate resistance. She chose the latter course. She could not protect her small army in Holstein, but she could effect a formidable diversion, and for this purpose she massed her troops on the Prussian frontiers. This was the first of the 'armaments' about which so many recriminations have been exchanged." Prussia affected to be alarmed, complained, and then did likewise. The two German Powers then wisely agreed to a mutual disarmament, which would have served for the preservation of present peace, had it not been for the threatening aspect of Italy. The Italians, on seeing that Austria was on the verge of war, at once prepared for the opportunity which her difficulty would create, and began to arm as the Prussians had done. Austria thereupon transferred her armaments from the Prussian to the Italian frontiers, at the same time explaining her position to the Prussian Government, and professing sincerity in the mutual disarmament that had been agreed upon. Prussia, still panting for the Duchies, and perceiving that if Italy declared war her own opportunity would have arrived, rejected the explanation, and stipulated for disarmament everywhere, offering with cool effrontery to disarm herself if Austria would disarm first with the lesser Powers. At the same time she was making the most active preparations for war, and all things being ready, Count von Bismarck soon managed to pick the necessary quarrel with Saxony in order to secure and occupy Dresden, through which lies the Austrian road to Berlin. This little Kingdom had from the first been with the Kaiser, and boldly refused to obey the summons to disarm. Hence its invasion and the occupation of its capital by the Prussians, which we now read of. Italy could not afford to begin the war; she could only take advantage of it when it began, and so long as Austria and Prussia kept on peaceable terms, her hopes in north-eastern Italy must vanish, together with her armaments. The attitude assumed by Prussia in her aggressive alliance with Italy, is justly condemned. It was in the Danish Duchies that the real difficulty lay, and upon what justifiable grounds then could Prussia, while professing to mediate for a pacific policy, make common cause with Italy? This must of itself have created distrust at Vienna, and led to the reasonable conclusion that some concerted action had been arranged between the two powers. The Italian question, too, was a secondary one, entirely apart from the German quarrel. It was natural enough, if we set aside the unavoidable feeling of sympathy that rests with Italy in her efforts to recover Venetia, that Austria should become irritated at the demonstrations being made by Italy on her borders, without any casus belli having occurred; and when Austria withdrew her armaments from the Prussian borders and confined her military preparations to the confines of Italy, furnished candid explanations to the Prussian Cabinet, Prussia then had in her power, had she wished so ardently for peace in Germany, to have secured it, temporarily at all events. It is evident, without their menaces, that neither of the two great German Powers desire war—the King of Prussia is particularly averse from the idea of war with a State of the Confederation, and he is supported in this by the intuitive sense of the Prussian people. The whole difficulty then might be removed by the consent of Austria to Prussian aggrandizement on the Elbe. The two great Federal powers being united on this question the minor States would be silenced, and Italy's chance would disappear. There is however a degree of international wrong in such an agreement, which, only the fear of losing her footing in Northern Italy, could probably induce Austria to assent to. The two armies numerically are about equal, but Prussia possesses the great advantage of being able to bring the major portion of her forces into the field and of being able to furnish her men with a deadly weapon known as the needle gun, while Austria will require at least one half of her army to garrison the fortresses of the Quadrilateral to contend against the 300,000 or 400,000 Italians of Victor Emmanuel. The Italian and Austrian hosts are also of nearly equal strength. The latter, however, is principally manned by Prussian soldiers. Should war be maintained for any length of time these two nations must have recourse to pressure to carry it on, as financially they are already in a bankrupt condition. The Prussian Exchequer is better prepared to stand the coming drain upon it. The general feeling among Germans is that the war, if it does commence in earnest, cannot last long. Austria, although she will have the majority of the Federal States on her side, has more to lose than she can possibly hope to gain, and sooner or later must yield her pretensions in the north, or part of her possessions in the south. The rest of the world—if France and Russia will keep their promises to stand aloof—will look on in the hope that the present embroglio may terminate in an equitable division by consent of the lesser States by the two superior powers, and the abandonment of Venetia to its rightful owners, the Italians. The price of Louis Napoleon's non-intervention, it is whispered, has been already agreed upon by Count von Bismarck, and the termination of the war may find the Rhenish Provinces under French sway.

SPECIAL TO THE COLONIST AND CHRONICLE.

SATURDAY'S DESPATCHES

Eastern States.

Portland, Maine, July 5th.—A fire occurred yesterday in J. B. Brown & Son's sugar house, Commercial Street, destroying property over a space of a mile wide; half of the city is destroyed, including nearly all the business portion. All banks, newspaper offices, all jewelry, wholesale dry goods stores, several churches, telegraph offices, and the majority of the business houses are destroyed. Many buildings, perhaps fifty, were blown up to check the flames, but the inhabitants could scarcely do more than flee with their families to the upper part of the city, saving such goods as they could carry. The Custom House being fireproof, escaped; though it was greatly damaged. The splendid city and county building on Congress street, being nearly fireproof, was considered safe, and was filled full of furniture by the neighboring residents, but it was swept away with all its contents. The fire is still raging below Cumberland street, ranging back to westward, the wind having changed. Captain Innes has telegraphed for 1500 tents to accommodate the homeless.

New York, July 5.—Early this morning a fire burst from the steamboat freight depot at Blank Slip and in a short time the whole of the buildings were destroyed, with the steamer Baltimore, also two boats loaded with freight; loss, a quarter of a million dollars.

Columbia, S. C., July 4.—Barnwell Rhetto, a distinguished citizen of this State, was shot yesterday while going to his plantation near Charleston. He received two loads from a double barreled shot gun. About twenty minutes after receiving the wounds he fell from his horse and died. It is not known definitely who the murderer was, but it was supposed to be a negro who had expressed strong animosity against the family.

Washington, July 3.—The Senate debated on the Indian Appropriation Bill, and rejected an amendment placing the Indian Bureau under the War Department. The Freedman's Bureau Bill has passed both Houses, and is now in the hands of the President.

California.

San Francisco, June 6.—Chun Wong, the first Chinaman ever executed at San Francisco, suffered the death penalty in the county jail this afternoon for the murder of his mistress.

Col. Dean this morning received from the War Department of Washington, the first official notification of the death of General Winfield Scott. The circular was dated May 30th and came by yesterday's steamer. After giving a brief sketch of the career of Gen. Scott, it closes with an order that guns be fired from each military post, at intervals of 30 minutes from sunrise to 1 o'clock p.m., on the day succeeding the receipt of the news. The guns were ordered at 10 a.m., and an order read to them, after which labor for the day will cease; flags will be kept at half mast. In accordance with the above order, half-hourly guns will be fired between sunrise and 1 p.m., to-morrow, from the Presidio, Fort Point, Point San Jose and Alcatraz.

A newly invented steam machine, intended to extinguish fires, exploded about 2 o'clock p.m. yesterday, while cold water was being pumped into it, severely scalding Wm. P. Paul, the inventor, who was experimenting with it at the time.

A gentleman had his leg broken on car No. 2 Central R. R. Co. by the sudden starting of a car, while he was standing on the platform.

The Opposition steamer America sails on the 14th instant.

The steamships Oriflamme and Montana left for Portland at 5 p.m., to-day.

Mexico.

Information from San Blas via Acapulco, says that the Republicans had taken the city of Santiago, and were threatening San Blas and Sepie.

YESTERDAY'S DESPATCHES!

EXCESSIVE HEAT!

Eastern States.

Washington, July 7th.—The heat has been excessive all over the country. Reports of sun stroke are frequent. No report as yet of undue sickness in any part.

The Tariff Bill.

The Tariff Bill has undergone such extensive amendments in the House, generally tending to higher rates, that hopes are entertained of postponing the whole bill upon the strength of its aggregate unpopularity.

Precautions at Portland.

Portland, July 7th.—Fears are entertained that gangs of thieves from other cities may attempt to rob some of the banks. The citizens have armed themselves for the protection of property.

Fights between White and Colored Troops.

Chicago, July 7.—The Tennessee Legislature met on the 4th, but adjourned till next week. There were several very serious disturbances among the negroes at Nashville, during the 4th and 5th, in which some 30 were killed and many wounded. In one case 50 white soldiers and more than double the number of blacks (late soldiers) had a regular pitched battle; several were killed and wounded on both sides. It is thought that this will lead to another Congressional investigation by Committee.

Fire at New Orleans.

The Old Fellows Hall, the most massive magnificent building in New Orleans, except the St. Charles Hotel, was burned on the 5th. The building including furniture was valued at $300,000 and insured for $250,000.

The Fenian Raid.

Gen. Sweeney, under date of St. Albans the 4th, publishes an address to the Fenian Brotherhood in America. He defends his conduct in the recent raid on Canada and recommends the organization of circles and the formation of military companies by the members under their chosen leaders.

Annexation of the Provinces.

The bill introduced into Congress to establish conditions for the admission of the British North American Provinces into the Union aroused an angry feeling in government circles in Canada. The bill is looked upon as a bid to the Provinces to throw off their allegiance to Great Britain, and join what is termed the political confusion of the United States. The popular feeling is against any such step.

Mexico.

New York, June 7.—The Herald's Mexican correspondence written from the city of Mexico 23d ult., shows that the Mexican people are becoming more and more united in the cause of independence of their country. The Imperial forces, French and native, had sustained a number of defeats of greater or less severity in the field and the cause of Maximilian was looking gloomy in consequence. Santa Anna has engaged in a course of public attention. The Mexican Liberator had proclaimed the theory that an understanding had been come to between the Emperor Napoleon and the ex-President, by which Maximilian would be removed, Santa Anna restored, and elected President; the United States holding itself ready to approve of the eventualities arising from the change of election.

Auction Sales To-day.
MESSRS. FRANKLIN, Government street, will sell at 12 o'clock, M., at Salesroom, Henley's Hotel, and other property.

From the East Coast.
The steamer Sir James Douglas, Capt. Clark, returned on Saturday evening from Nainaimo and way ports, with about twenty-five passengers and a small quantity of produce. One of the proprietors of this journal, who made the trip with her, reports that at COMOX the settlers feel themselves aggrieved for the reason that the Government neglects the construction of a trunk road from the head of the agricultural district to the steamer's landing about five or six miles. The line of road was commenced to be laid out last year and was left unfinished, and the farmers, although anxious to contribute a good deal to the work, are reluctant to do anything towards it until the line is definitely marked out by the proper officers of the Government. They are awaiting the arrival of the Surveyor General to authorize the completion of the job. The produce of the district cannot, without difficulty, be conveyed to the steamer for market on account of such a want. A resident of the district who recently took occasion to find out, states that there are two hundred and fifty acres of land under crops—barley, oats, potatoes, turnips &c., and some thirteen hundred acres already under fences and principally set apart for hay and grazing purposes. A large quantity of hay will be saved this season and it is estimated that ten thousand dollars worth of hogs can be shipped from the settlements this year, which speaks well for so young a place. The crops, live stock and poultry, look well, and beautiful butter is being extensively made. The people are selling the means for conveying their stuff to market, to be anticipated. It is to be hoped that the steamer will continue to make her usual fortnightly trips at least, as it was rumored that she would confine her visits to once a month, by reason of the inadequate support received. A canoe with some men, among whom was Mr. M. Reynolds of this city, had just arrived to inspect the country, and of which some indications had been previously met with.

NAINAIMO
the people have been enjoying themselves lately, although business was rather dull. On Comoxation Day and the Fourth of July, pic-nics with a ball in the evening, were the order of the day. The stores were flooded and the town looked joyful—bunting floated from all the flagpoles. The pic-nic and ball on the former days, were largely attended. On the Fourth the Sunday School of the Wesleyan and Presbyterian Churches, respectively, combined and proceeded in boats to a beautiful location on Protection Island, where the children and their friends enjoyed themselves. In the evening a subscription ball was given at the Court House, which was neatly decorated and was attended by over a hundred persons. A fire broke out on Wednesday morning, on the surface of an old coal pit, caused by the escape of heated steam through the fissures of the pit and which has been smouldering for two years past. The external fire was quickly extinguished by a force of men from the coal mines. There is a large quantity of coal waiting for shipment on the Nainaimo river there is a large quantity of hay ready for market. On Thursday evening, at 9 o'clock, the U. S. war steamer Saranac, six guns and a complement of two hundred men, arrived in the harbor from Puget Sound and next day took on board ninety-two tons of coal, to burn it was said, with some five hundred tons already aboard, but of an inferior quality. On entering the harbor in charge of a pilot from Comox, as we understood, who took a wrong channel—following an old Hudson Bay chart of 1852—and grounded for a short time. Fortunately, with the aid of a rising tide and a pilot acquainted with the harbor, she was got off without sustaining any injury and was moored in deep water. On Friday morning she left for San Francisco—under the charge of pilot Sabiston, sent on board by the Coal and Land Company's manager Mr. Nicol. The Indian recently shot by the Constable in connection with a whiskey row, is getting better. Early in the week a coal miner, named Walsh, while in the pit, left his coat aside, containing over three hundred dollars in gold and bank notes, and a bank receipt for 900 dollars, when it was stolen—supposed by an Indian, one of a half-breed and a sequent day, presented some of the money for changing at the Bank. The receipt is expected to be made right, the owner having come to Victoria on the matter.

The weather in the early part of the week was very warm. At Comox, on Monday last, the thermometer showed almost two degrees Fahrenheit in the shade. The forests in many places were on fire from the extreme heat. The schooner Nonpareil, on the way down from the North, was met on Wednesday last in Bayne's Sound, with a successful catch of codfish on board. She reports the fish as being very plentiful around Fort Rupert. The captain conveyed with him one of the miners on the Skeena river, who reported rather encouraging intelligence from the diggings—one man had fifteen hundred dollars worth of dust in his possession.

On Saturday morning a large ball, purchased from Capt. Franklin by a couple of the settlers on Gabriola Island, while being conveyed by the steamer from Nanaimo to be landed on the island, was lost. When being shored from the deck of the vessel, to be made to swim ashore in the usual manner, the animal went down in very deep water, head foremost, and did not rise to the surface for some time. The owners were on board shortly afterwards and towed it to shore dead; it was thought from suffocation or the bursting of a blood vessel.

COVICHAN AND SALT SPRING ISLAND
Are looking well; the crops of which a more extended notice was given by us a short time since, promise an abundant harvest. A trip at this season of the year to the places above mentioned, for the sake of the scenery alone, would amply repay those having leisure from business, and the attention and affability of Capt. Clark and those under him at all times, would render such a trip a most agreeable one. Mr. R. Burnaby, Mr. Bland, and a few others returned by the steamer very much pleased with the excursion.

MURDER NEAR SEATTLE.—On the fourth of July, information reached Seattle that the wife of Wm. Powell, formerly a seaman on board the U. S. S. Saranac, had been murdered at Alki Point, where she resided with her husband. A party left for the spot, and discovered the body of the woman lying on the floor of which was stained with blood. On entering, the body of the woman was found lying on the floor, and her husband was lying with his head on her breast apparently asleep. The party went outside to consult together, when footsteps were heard within, and suspecting that the murderer was about to make his escape, the party re-entered, but found the husband still pretending to be asleep. He was bound and taken to Seattle. At the inquest it was shown that the woman was shot through the left temple, producing immediate death. The prisoner had often threatened to kill her.

SALE OF THE "NAINAIMO GAZETTE" PLANT.
The plant of the Nainaimo Gazette was offered for sale at public auction on Saturday by Mr. McGraw at his rooms. A large crowd of persons attended, and considerable interest was shown in the somewhat novel proceeding. The Auctioneer having stated the terms to be "cash, cash, cash" at the fall of the hammer, the sale proceeded. The first bidder was Dr. Trimble, who offered $300; Mr. C. W. Wallace bid $400; Dr. Trimble, $500; and the final offer was from Mr. Wallace, $800, at which price the hammer fell, notwithstanding the persuasive eloquence of the Auctioneer, who assured one newspaper gentleman that the press was "just the thing to print poetry on," and informed the Doctor that the "type could be all made up into pills." It is understood that the plant will be sent back to Nainaimo, and that it will be employed in the publication of a new weekly paper.

BRITISH COLUMBIAN ITEMS.—Placer diggings, believed to be very rich, have been discovered on the Douglas Portage, 23 miles from Port Douglas town. The Davis company, at Cariboo, have decided to allow their colored partners, who were cut off by Judge Begbie's award, to participate in the product of the disputed ground. The anniversary of the Declaration of American Independence was appropriately celebrated at New Westminster on the Fourth. The Customs Receipts for week ending Saturday, June 23rd.—Duties $3,891.96; harbor dues $149.04; head money $41.00; tonnage dues $349.50; inland navigation licenses $200; fees $1. Total $4,432.50. Number of passengers 41. The telegraph steamer Mamford, from this port, reached New Westminster on Friday morning and sailed for the North on Saturday.

THE GALAXY.—The May numbers of this new illustrated magazine have been placed upon our table by Mr. W. E. Loomis, northeast corner of Sansome and Washington streets, San Francisco, the local agent. The Galaxy is published fortnightly at the office, 39 Park Row, New York, for the very moderate price of three dollars for the volume of twelve numbers, or twenty-five cents a number. It has met with a flattering reception from the press and the public, and if the same standard of literary merit presented in the first two numbers is preserved, the magazine will take a prominent place among the serials of the day. Among its contributors are Anthony Trollope and Mrs. Edwards.

FROM YALE.—The steamer Orward, Capt. Irving, returned from Yale yesterday, bringing an express for Dietz & Nelson. The cargo in the Fraser was rising very fast, and had reached to within five feet of extreme high water mark. There is no later mining news. The Fourth was celebrated in grand style at Yale. Salutes were fired morning, noon and night, and, in fact, all day long, while there were horse races, foot races, with a variety of games and other amusements, and a free luncheon in Mr. Sutton's saloon and Mr. Barry's saloon. In the evening there was a magnificent display of fireworks, all of which were heartily participated in by the entire community—Columbian.

CHALLENGE CUP.—A silver subscription cup was shot for on Saturday by nine members of No. 2 Company, at 200 and 300 yards. Sergt. Widdowson was the winner on this occasion, having scored 19 points in 5 shots at each range. Sergt. Widdowson was the second prize with 18 points. The cup has to be contended for on the first Saturday in each month until the same member shall have won it three times, when he will be entitled to hold it.

PHOTOGRAPHY.—Mr. Dally's photographic gallery, Fort Street, is now open to the public. He has received by latest steamer, everything necessary to the successful carrying on of the art, and will guarantee to those who may patronize him pictures giving the utmost satisfaction.

Dr. Cook, Dentist, will be here in a week or ten days, when parties wishing to secure his services, will have an opportunity of consulting him.

SUCCESS TO THE "FIDELITER!"—A telegram received in town from Portland, Oregon, states that the U. S. Secretary of Treasury had telegraphed to the Collector of Customs at Astoria to permit the English steamer Fideliter to run to Portland until further order. This virtually settles the question and establishes Portland on the same commercial footing with the ports on Puget Sound to which foreign bottoms are allowed to run and load with lumber. It appears that the Portland merchants were highly indignant at the U. S. Collector stopping the Fideliter, and immediately telegraphed a statement of the facts of the case to Washington, with the gratifying result as above stated. Following is a copy of the despatch from the Treasury Department:

WASHINGTON, July 7th, 1886.
To the Collector of Customs, District Oregon: You will, until further advised, permit foreign vessels with cargoes for Portland to unload there under the eye of the Surveyor, and to make formal entry and pay duty at Astoria.
(Signed) H. McCULLOCH, Secretary.

THE BRIDGE DEPUTATION.—Messrs. Laumeister and McLaren, the deputation appointed by the Cariboo miners to wait on Administrator Birch, and lay a statement of their grievances before him, arrived on the Alexandra. The deputation received a kind reception from Mr. Birch, who has promised to return with them to Cariboo and ascertain what steps are necessary to furnish relief.

FROM NEW WESTMINSTER.—The steamer Alexandra, Swanson master, arrived from New Westminster on Saturday evening bringing a few passengers and a small amount of treasure. The news was anticipated by telegraph.

THE "FIDELITER."—The passengers by this steamer reached Portland on Saturday, so says a telegram. The vessel was detained at Astoria pending the settlement of the navigation question. The run was made in 22 hours.

THE "JOSEPH McNEAR."—A telegram received yesterday from Portland states that this steamer, concerning which serious apprehensions were felt, was at Astoria on the 4th inst.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE COAL MINING Co.—The Leonide, chartered by this Company, arrived at New Westminster on Friday evening, and would clear for the North on Saturday.

CAMPING OUT.—We hear that the Rifle Corps will shortly go under canvas at Beacon Hill for a week, for the purpose of becoming acquainted with camp duties.

ELLEGANT SUMMER CLOTHING.—The Gabriell Linen Dress and Cosaque. A beautiful assortment of these graceful garments, just opened at London House.
